"We believe the primary purpose of our schools is to provide an environment which will challenge each child to develop his intellect to its capacity. Only if each student is helped to realize his mental and physical abilities and to assume his inherent democratic responsibilities can our nation hope to survive in today's complex world."

Administration

A school is an unusual business. It is owned by many people, does not make a profit, and performs the most vital service in the civilized world . . . education.

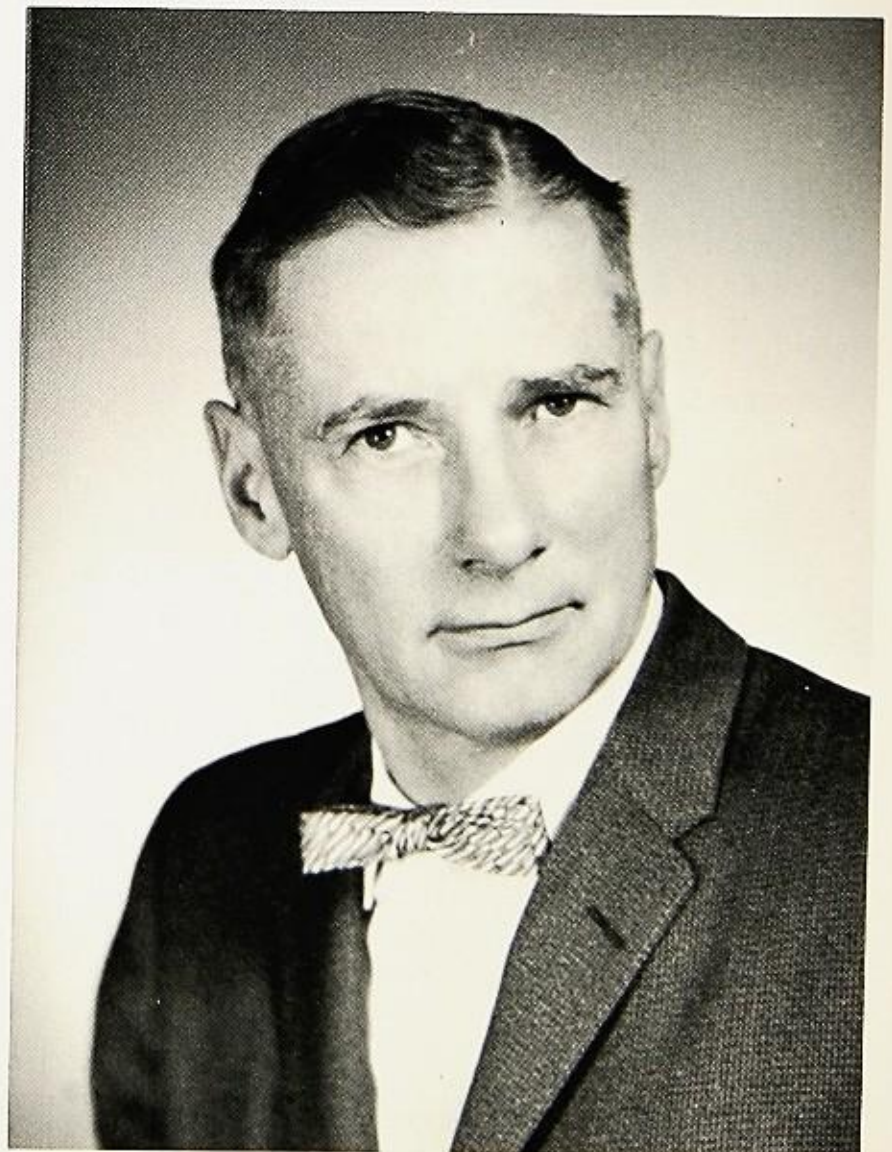

Every company has management — Monroe-Woodbury calls it the Administration — to keep things running smoothly. Due to the unusual nature of the school "business," the administration meets many problems that would not have to be faced in a more conventional operation.

Dr. Charles Davis came to this system in 1961 from Hanover, Pennsylvania, where he was Superintendent of Schools. He is a graduate of Westminster College, Pennsylvania where he studied chemical engineering. He holds an M.Ed. and Ph.D. from the University of Pittsburgh. He has also done advanced work at the Georgia Institute of Technology, and the University of Colorado.

Mr. Daly has been a prominent figure in this area for many years. A graduate of Syracuse University, he taught in Liberty, New York prior to becoming principal of the Central Valley School, then independent. After the 1951 centralization, he became principal of the Monroe Woodbury Central High School.

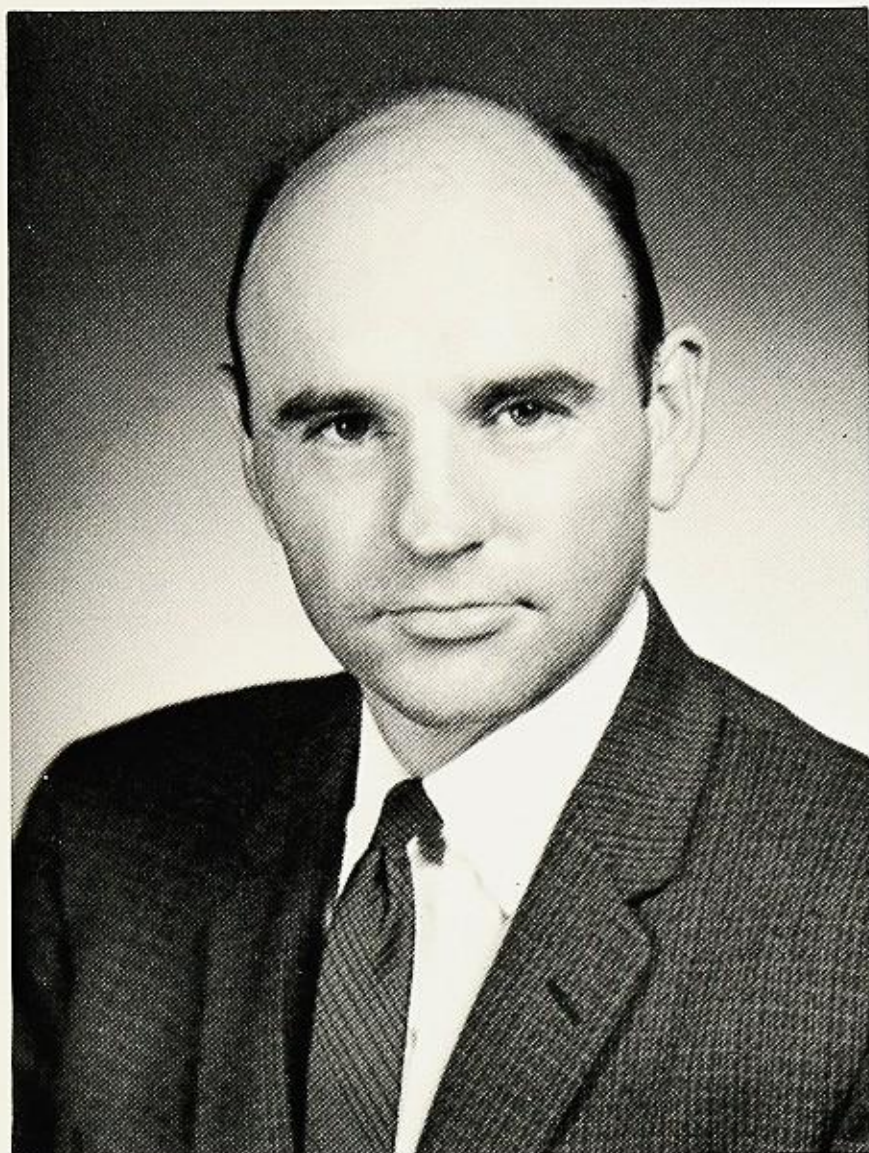

Dr. Davis
Supervising Principal

Mr. Daly
High School Principal

The main problem is the nature of the product; usually referred to as the Student Body. It is often a rebellious, headstrong, and hard-to-cope-with group, (especially when 1200 strong). It takes masterful executive ability to promote friendly relations with this "herd," and with the parents, the real owners of the school.

We, the student body, in general and the class of '63 in particular, can only be grateful that we have as fine administrators as we do. To them we owe a large debt of gratitude for the fine educational opportunities we have had.

Dr. Duncan
Assistant Principal

Mr. Barrett
Administrative Assistant

Dr. Duncan is a newcomer to Monroe-Woodbury this year. He attended Cornell University, Colgate University, and the University of North Carolina. After World War II, he received his B.A. and M.A. at Columbia. Before his arrival at Monroe-Woodbury, he taught Mathematics in Newport, Long Island.

Mr. Barrett also has a long record of service to the Monroe-Woodbury area. Upon centralization, he became Elementary supervisor. In the fall of 1960, Mr. Barrett was Acting Supervising Principal in the interim between Dr. Wheaton's departure and Dr. Davis' arrival. Mr. Barrett graduated from Rensselaer Polytechnic Institute and earned his masters degree from Columbia.

Meet Kristin Ebbing . . .

. . . M-W's exchange student from Norway. We are certainly fortunate to have Kris here with us this year, for her warm personality has enhanced her popularity and has lent a bit of brightness to M-W's halls.

Kristin lives in Bangsuad, Norway. When she returns to her school in Namos, she will have one more year of high school. Kris' school did not have extra-curricular activities as we know them in M-W. However she did participate in a choral group and is an expert skier, sailor and tennis player.

Kris likes all the activities here at M-W, as is evident by her participation in so many. She is president of the mixed chorus and treasurer of the Monroe Presbyterian Westminster Fellowship. She is a member of the Art Staff of the 1963 SHIELD, a reporter for the SPOTLIGHT and a member of the Orange County Enrichment Program. Also, no one will forget her portrayal of Mme. Parole in the senior class play, "My Three Angels."

Class History

Where are the traffic cops of tomorrow? — the chiropractors? — the morticians? From what source come the leaders, the followers and those who care neither to lead nor to follow? — The class of 1963.

It all started in 1959 when the class was officially organized for better or for worse. Douglas Fulton received the honor of being our first class president. Serving as vice-president was Susan Smith. Susan Empey was Secretary and Pat Kolodziejski was Treasurer.

The Freshman year was a year of learning . . . learning what we could do and what we could not. This was the year when we started slightly more specialized courses. For some this meant taking a first foreign language course; for others this meant taking the last language course. College Prep Students also met the horrors of . . . algebra. Business Students began learning the fundamentals of typing, shorthand, accounting and general embezzlement.

But the term ended with few grave mishaps and a great amount of experience for the members of the class.

The next Fall, when the leaves turned brown and the Freshmen turned Sophomores, (the Greek meaning for the word being "wise fools") the class was organized under the leadership of Mike Hennessey. The vice president of the class was Irva Stahl. Steve Heaton was elected Secretary and Dottie Hall became Treasurer.

The class now truly began to function as an organization by sponsoring dances and other social events in hopes of earning enough for a trip to Washington. However, it was decided later that year that the Class of '61 would be the last M-W Seniors to make that trip because the classes were growing so large.

This was a disappointment to the "'63ers," (not, however, to the Washingtonians) but spirits were high and the group kept on working.

Different class members began achieving recognition in sundry fields of endeavor. On the baseball diamond Coleman Miesner became the first student in Monroe-Woodbury's history to pitch a "no-hitter." Later that year in recognition for their athletic prowess, Coleman and John Dockery were made members of the Crusader Club. This was a distinct honor for mere Sophomores to achieve. Scholastically, the Class of '63 was right out in front. A large number of pupils here received National Educational Development Test Certificates for high scores. Many had received this same honor as Freshmen.

Though only Sophomores, the "'63ers" showed their fortitude and endurance by having only a few cases of pre-Regents plague and a slightly larger number of cases of post-Regents paralysis. This is a record not to be looked upon lightly, for many another class has succumbed to the horrors of their first Regents Exams.

Now they were Juniors, upperclassmen! Would success spoil the class of 1963? No! Well, not completely anyway. They were coming up in the world and had a huge amount to accomplish.

Their task was made somewhat easier because of their capable leadership. Mike Hennessey was elected President; Susy Smith was chosen Vice President. Barbara Wright became Secretary and Carroll Mullis became Treasurer.

Early in the year the first Juniors were tapped for the National Honor Society. They were Peg Andresen, Cliff Berchtold, Bill Bianco, Mike Hennessey, Carroll Mullis, Herb Schneider, Mike Stieber and Nancy Wendt. Later that year Diane Rechner, Susan Smith, Don Steele and Fred Stefan were added to the group. And so, for a time the rogues gallery was enlarged. This was the largest Junior group to be tapped in years. (The class of '63 triumphs again!)

The class athletes (muscle-bound gorillas) also enlarged the Crusader Club with the addition of Bill Mitchell and Ed Winslow. The Varsity Cheerleading Squad was improved by the talents of two Junior girls, Nancy Wendt and Susy Smith.

In the literary field, the class was also distinguishing itself. Five of its members, Susan Empey, Carroll Mullis, Judy Shaw, Susan Smith and Mike Stieber, were members of the staff of the 1962 Shield. Thus they gained experience on this colossal publication. The Spotlight was thoroughly saturated with members of the class of '63. Carroll Mullis held the position of layout editor.

One of the home-town boys also made good in the G.O. — Coleman Miesner became its Vice President. (If anyone were qualified to preside over the vice there, it was Coleman.)

The class of 1963 had three representatives at Boys' State at Colgate University. They were David Burrow, Marty Demarest, and Coleman Miesner. Mary Ellen Strebel was our representative to Girls' State.

The 1961-62 term was a busy period of time for the Juniors. They had to put on a Junior-Senior Prom and a class play.

After a slight pretense of the use of the democratic process, the play, The Teahouse of the August Moon, by John Patrick, was unilaterally selected by Mr. James Baumgarten, its director.

The production will never be forgotten by those who saw it or by those who played in it. Dave Burrow's performance as Sakini, the Okinawan who saved Captain Fisbi (Mike Stieber) from Colonel Purdy (Herb Schneider) and helped build a teahouse for Lotus Blossom (Irva Stahl) and her people, was magnificent. Who won't remember Hiroshi Ishii the assistant director, as well as an actor? All in all Mr. Baumgarten is to be congratulated on an excellent job and an outstanding choice.

With its coffers suitably enriched by the proceeds from the play, the class undertook the job of putting on its Prom. The theme was to be Blue Hawaii; the head of the Prom committee was Nancy Wendt. Irva Stahl, Judy Shaw, Bill Mitchell and Harry Carey were chosen as the Princesses and Princes. In the end, the gym was beautifully decorated; the air was filled with soft music and only one or two people tripped on the tropical island.

Soon the semester was over. In general it was a good year and it was the last chance the '63ers had to be gay and carefree, for as Seniors the weight of responsibility would be on their shoulders. (What a laugh!)

They finally entered the last phase of their high school education. The Senior year seemed like the shortest one of all. Perhaps that was because many of them realized that they weren't so anxious for it to end after all.

They had much to do in that shortest of all years. College applications, a class trip, a play, and future occupations all cluttered the minds of the "'63ers." Yet, they accomplished all these things and more with only a minimum of nervous breakdowns.

Fortunately, the class had a good body of officers. Sarah Walls was the Vice President, Barb Wright was again Secretary; Diane Rechner became Treasurer. The ever President Mike Hennessey became our fearless leader once again.

Early in the year it was announced that three of the Seniors, Bill Bianco, Mike Hennessey, and Herb Schneider were National Merit Scholarship Semi-finalists, indeed an honor (especially so for these three). Several of their classmates won letters of commendation, an honor no less distinct.

The Seniors did not only excell in one field; athletically they excelled with members of their class leading all teams. Bernie Herron, Jim Johnson and Marty (Stretch)

Demarest were added to the Crusader Club. But let us not be misled; the female portion of the class did its part in this department. Our dedicated cheerleaders Susy Smith and Captain Nancy Wendt often turned defeat into victory, tears to laughter and overcast skies to clear ones. (That's too much, isn't it?)

The first important task performed by the class that year was the production of its play, My Three Angels, by Sam and Bella Spewack. The lead parts were held by Bill Bianco, Dave Burrow, and Bob Wolf who played convicts (type cast). The credit for the play's success goes to Mr. Duffy who did an excellent job of lashing the cast into shape. Kristin Ebbing, our Norwegian exchange student, demonstrated her acting ability by her participation in the production.

Seniors usually run things at M-W and the "'63ers" were no exceptions. Tom (Pepsi) Patton was President of the Student Council and did a fine job. Of course he had a large number of Senior G.O. representatives helping him. In addition, Norm Kogan kept a stern eye on the treasury (rather than a hand in it).

Bill (All the News That's Safe to Print) Bianco was editor of the Spotlight. His able Senior Co-editors were Fred Stefan, Carroll Mullis, Nancy Wendt, Ted Stanfield and Paul Murphy.

Speaking of editors, Mike Stieber became editor of this magnificent publication. Suffering from tension and various other neuroses, Mike was often seen roaming the corridors mumbling to the denizens therein that there would be no yearbook this year.

But, here it is, which goes to prove that the history of the Class of 1963 will not end when the last person receives his diploma. They will continue to advance and succeed no matter what the situation or the odds. As Colonel Purdy said in The Teahouse of the August Moon, — "We adjust; we adapt; we roll with the punch and bring victory home in our teeth!"

Junior Play

In April of Junior Year, most honorable play, "The Teahouse of the August Moon," was presented by the most honorable Junior Class under direction of most honorable Mr. James Baumgarden and most honorable Mr. Hiroshi Ishii (exchange student 1961-62).

Play finds Colonel Wainwright Purdy, III, son of a son of a son, assigned by U.S. government to take charge of reconstruction of Okinawa in general and Captain Fisby, aided by interpreter, Sakini by name, to take charge of rehabilitation of Tobiki village particularly. Play gets complicated by a great gift of Lotus Blossom, Geisha girl first class, but Tobili gets rehabilitated by golly, thanks to construction of Teahouse of August Moon.

Most honorable members of most honorable cast include: David Burrow as Sakini, Herbert Schneider as Colonel Wainwright Purdy, Mike Stieber as Captain Fisby, Irva Stahl as Lotus Blossom, and John Burger, Robert Wolf, William Bianco, Nancy Wendt, Carroll Mullis, Fred Stefan, Mary Ellen Strebel, Paul Murphy, Hiroshi Ishii, Clifford Berchtold, Mike Hennessey, George Kogan, and Debbie Steers as most honorable supporting cast.

The Greeks had one word for it. The French would say "C'est magnifique." Most honorable critic say "Subarashi," which in Japanese means "very fine."

Senior Play

My Three Angels

There were few who expected the Class of '63 to equal the success of its first play. Yet, when the curtain rose on My Three Angels on November 16, 1962, they were surprised and delighted. The spectacular performance was due largely to the direction of Mr. Eugene Duffy.

The plot deals with the plight of the Ducotels, (John Burger, Mary Ellen Strebel, & Carroll Mullis), the family of a fumbling French Guiana merchant. The family's problems are complicated by the entry of Mme. Parole, (Kristin Ebbing), and the Trochards, (Herb Schneider, Mike Hennessey), but the day is saved by three convict-angels, (Bill Bianco, Bob Wolf, & Dave Burrow). A naval lieutenant in the person of Fred Stefan enters at the close as the hope of the future.

Junior Class

The Class of 1964 has completed the last step of a long awaited dream. Next fall they will enter high school as full fledged seniors. We, the outgoing seniors, wish to them success, and we hope that their senior year will be one they will cherish always.

The 1963 Shield Staff would especially like to thank the many juniors whose hard work made this publication possible. We hope they have gained the necessary experience needed to put out their own yearbook in keeping with the traditional M-W seal of quality.

ORGANIZ

ACTIONS

In keeping with the high quality of work associated with M-W, the 1963 SHIELD has far surpassed all previous publications.

When the newly elected staff first met, the tremendous amount of work ahead of them, plus future negotiations with photographers, publishers and financiers stunned them. However, the job was finally finished and, with its completion, they found they had gained experience and insight never to be forgotten.

The graduating class is grateful to the seniors and juniors responsible for the publication of the yearbook. However, it owes a special debt of gratitude to Mike Stieber, Editor-in-Chief and Mr. Anthony Frandino, Advisor. Without their undying devotion and outstanding leadership, the yearbook would never have been the success it is. It will definitely be a long time before any class is able to surpass the quality of workmanship put forth by the staff of the 1963 SHIELD.

The National Honor Society

is the most outstanding high school scholastic organization in the country. All Monroe-Woodbury students should be proud of the large number of fellow students who have attained membership in this society. Each member is judged on scholarship, leadership, character, and service.

SEATED: Tom Patton, President; Lawrence Williams, Vice-President; Ruth Kirk, Recording Secretary; Norman Kogan, Treasurer. STANDING: Mr. Moomey, Advisor; Daniel Romer, Corresponding Secretary.

The Student Council is of utmost importance in Monroe-Woodbury since it is the governing body of the school. Every student in the school is afforded an opportunity to criticize or praise any aspect of school life through his homeroom representative. This year, Tom Patton, as President of the Council, was an able leader and led the group to numerous achievements.

The addition of the office of corresponding secretary proved to be a valuable one. The members of this organization deserve much credit for their efforts in striving to promote better government for the student body at Monroe-Woodbury.

Spotlight Goes Monthly

The monthly newspaper at Monroe-Woodbury is called "The Spotlight." Its main purpose is to familiarize the student body with the accomplishments and activities of the different organizations around school.

Each year the staff works hard to try to make the paper live up to the previously set high standards. This year's was no exception.

The staff members have worked diligently under the capable direction of William Bianco, Editor-In-Chief; Fred Stefan, Associate Editor; Nancy Wendt, Business Manager; Carroll Mullis, Feature Editor; Ted Stanfield and Paul Murphy, Sports Editors; Alice Wright, Corresponding Editor; and with the assistance of its advisors, Miss Lynne White and Miss Susan Hanssen.

Crusader Club

During the past seven years the Crusader Club has become a hallmark for high standards and a goal for every Monroe-Woodbury athlete.

To be considered for this honor a boy must be a sophomore, junior, or senior, passing four subjects and be outstanding in one sport. Candidates must consistently demonstrate, to student and faculty members, high standards with respect to competitive spirit, team-play, sportsmanship, loyalty, and responsibility.

The officers of this year's club are William Mitchell, President; Marsh Merrill, Vice-President; Coleman Miesner, Treasurer and James Johnson, Secretary. Mr. Seager is this year's faculty chairman.

Edward Winslow, John Dockery, Marsh Merrill, Martin Demerest, Dennis Gurrant, William Mitchell, James Johnson, Bernard Herron, Coleman Miesner.

Youth-in-Government

Youth-in-Government has many objectives. However, its main function is to acquaint students with government functions through actual participation.

There are two parties: The Citizens' Party and the Peoples' Party. In the past, a person selected to become a delegate remained so throughout his high school years, but just this year, M-W has initiated a program whereby representatives are elected by their classmates, thus insuring greater representation.

Each fall these representatives from our school and participating schools throughout the county meet at Goshen to hold their annual convention. At this convention, each party selects its slate of candidates for county offices and a platform, which in turn is taken back to the individual schools to be voted upon. Students winning these elections are given a chance to officiate in their respective positions for one day.

This year the officers for the Citizens' Party were: Party Chairman — Carroll Mullis; Platform Chairman — Nancy Wendt; Secretary — Lynne Mutchler. The officers for the Peoples' Party were: Party Chairman — Irva Stahl; Platform Chairman — John Barrett; Secretary — Ruth Kirk.

Future Teachers of America was first organized in our school seven years ago. The club was organized to acquaint its members with the various aspects of teaching.

This year the Future Teachers Club has been quite busy. It has been selling hungry students apples during the periods after school.

It members also attended the Teachers' Conference on October 26, 1962. Later in the year they sat in on classes of the subjects which they wish to teach.

The officers of F.T.A. are: President, Mary Ellen Strebel; Vice-President, Betsy Marbourg; Secretary, Marilyn Moulton; Treasurer, Mary Banks; Reporter, Leesa Brand.

F.N.A.

The Future Nurses Club is an organization of students who are interested in nursing as a profession. Under the supervision of the club advisor, Mrs. Scheff, the members have learned much about nursing by visiting hospitals, clinics, and private sanatoriums, by participating in service projects for hospitals, and through discussions of nursing as a career.

An initiation is held each year for the new members. This year there are thirty-eight members. Lorraine Murphy, President; Catherine Stevenson, Vice-President; Susan Miskura, Secretary; and Janet Smith, Treasurer; comprise the executive committee this year.

Several tournaments are played each year to instill interest among the members. The Chess Club is also looking for an opportunity to play other chess clubs to demonstrate their skill and ability.

Make-Up Club

This is the Make-up Club's seventh year in operation.

The main purpose of the club is to study the art of stage make-up and to portray various characters under various conditions of mood, lighting and setting.

The club is open to all interested students and provides good practice and experience in the field of theatrical make-up. For others, it is an opportunity to take an indirect part in the various class productions.

It is quite obvious that all members find it quite enjoyable to share in the excitement before the curtain rises.

Slaves Perform at S.P.Q.R.'s Banquet

As an erudite classicist knows, the letters S.P.Q.R. stand for Senatus Populusque Romanus, the Roman senate and people. In Monroe-Woodbury, this anachronistic expression is the name of a very vibrant organization, the Latin Club.

June, 1963 will mark the passing of an era for the S.P.Q.R. for the last founding members of the club will leave with the graduating class. This will probably be celebrated with Roman candles.

The annual Roman banquet is the high spot of the S.P.Q.R.'s year. It is quite authentic; with slaves and dancing girls, very Roman.

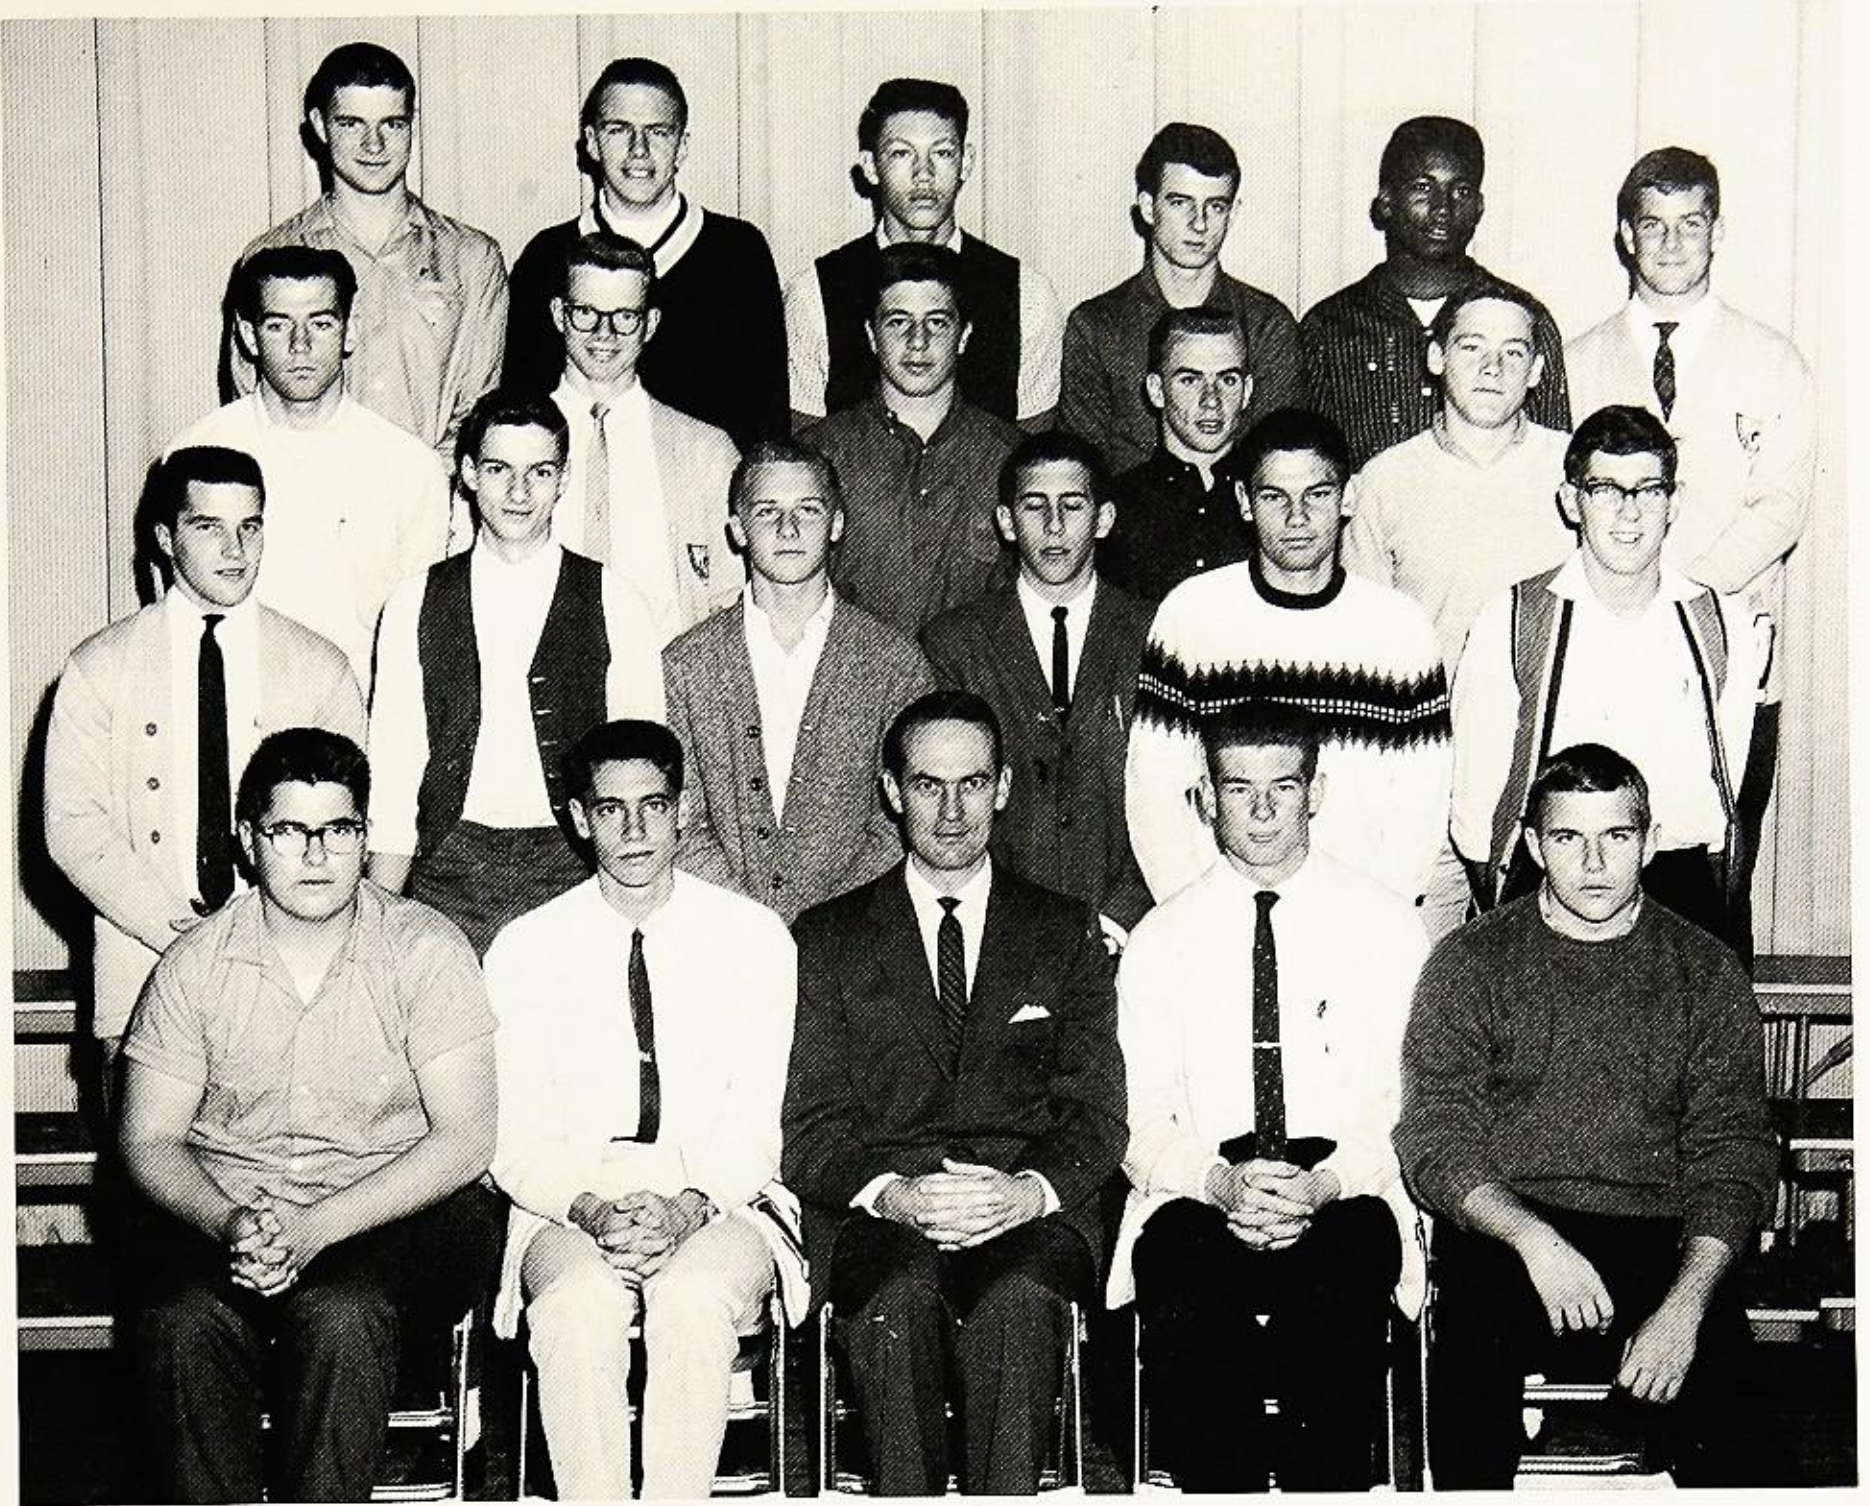

This year's officers are: Leilani Green, President; Daniel Romer, Vice-President; John Agolia, Secretary; Fred Stefan, Treasurer. Mrs. Woodruff of the Latin department is the advisor.

SEATED: Fred Stefan, Leilani Green, Mrs. Woodruff, Danny Romer, John Agolia. FIRST ROW: Tracy Schriber, Sharon Lynn, Michael Bartholomeo, Arlene Hoffman, Ann Stevens. SECOND ROW: Kerry

Phillips, Romain Cooper, Philip Williams, Renee Relyea, Patricia Layne. THIRD ROW: Bob Reiss, Bill Bianco, Bob Wolf, Herbert Schneider, Don Steele.

zillo, John Barrett, Brian Beall. FOURTH ROW: Martin Demarest, Edward Leonard, Denny Gurrant, Thomas Keagy, George Gurrent, Marsh Merrill.

The Varsity Club is one of the newer clubs in the high school. The purpose is to enable all varsity lettermen to meet once a month and stay in contact with each other during the off seasons.

The first officers elected by the club were: President, Ted Stanfield; Vice-President, Fred Salvidge; Secretary, Gary Weyant; Treasurer, Greg Welch.

The Enrichment Program is a county wide organization. It was formed to give advanced students the benefit of college level courses. They meet at O.C.C.C. on Saturday mornings, during which time, famous lecturers talk to the group. The big event of the year was a trip to Lincoln Center to hear Leonard Bernstein conduct the Philharmonic Orchestra. Eligibility for the program is determined by scores on the National Merit Scholarship Qualifying Test.

Russian Club

The Russian Club started with a very enthusiastic turnout. At first, lessons were held twice weekly. Later the Club's meetings were held once a month to correspond with the other language clubs. However, a small group of students continued with their weekly lessons.

Music is the favorite enjoyment of club members and they formed a choir which performed at their big Easter Time Program.

Officers for this year were: President, Ann Stevens; Vice-President, Bill Bianco; Secretary, Susan Miskura, Treasurer, Linda Marten, and Mrs. Frolov, Advisor.

This is the first year that a French Club has been organized at Monroe-Woodbury, and it has done very well. The name of the club means "the mistakes," but the "Les Fautes" make no mistakes when it comes to cashing in on their knowledge of the French language.

A good portion of those who have completed a year of French have joined "Les Fautes." Although there were meetings throughout the year, the main affair was the Mardi Gras Fete in the Spring.

The officers are Michael Hennessey, President; Evelyn Gerling, Vice President; Elizabeth Kneiper, Secretary; and David Burrow, Treasurer.

The twirlers are an essential part of the school spirit. They led the band at all football games with their high-stepping, fancy twirling routines.

They hold weekly classes to teach other girls the art of baton twirling.

Junior High Art Club

The Art Club, under the supervision of Miss Mallory, is one of the main organizations this year in the Junior High. Its main purpose is to acquaint the students with drawing and painting techniques of several art schools. To become a member of the club, a student must have definite art talent.

Dance Band

The Dance Band, under the direction of Mr. August Natoli, has certainly proved its worth this year.

They are not only popular with the student body, but with the whole community, as shown by their reception at the Eighth Grade Graduation Dance.

It is comprised of dedicated students who give their time after school to practice.

Mixed Chorus

The Mixed Chorus, under the capable direction of Miss Marion Gray, is one of Monroe-Woodbury's best assets. Through the years its reputation has grown as one of the best choruses in the county.

One of the most important things in a chorus is the interest displayed by its members. The chorus has rehearsal after school and at lunchtime to perfect its concerts. This year's Christmas Concert took the form of a Christmas Party and provided a new look in choral presentation in this school.

Much of the success of the chorus rests with Miss Gray. Without her efforts on behalf of this organization, the whole school would miss a great deal.

Girls' Chorus

One section of the music department is the Girls' Chorus. It meets only two days a week, but in that short time, is able to accomplish wonders. The leadership given forth by Miss Gray plus the girls' own enthusiasm has made the chorus renown and one that will be difficult to surpass.

So what do you do for excitement — count lumps in your oatmeal?

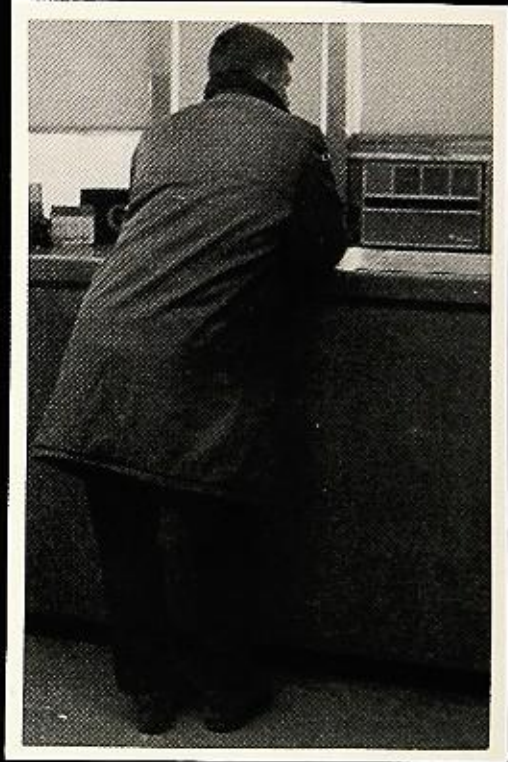

You hit me and he'll hit you.

Hercules unchained!

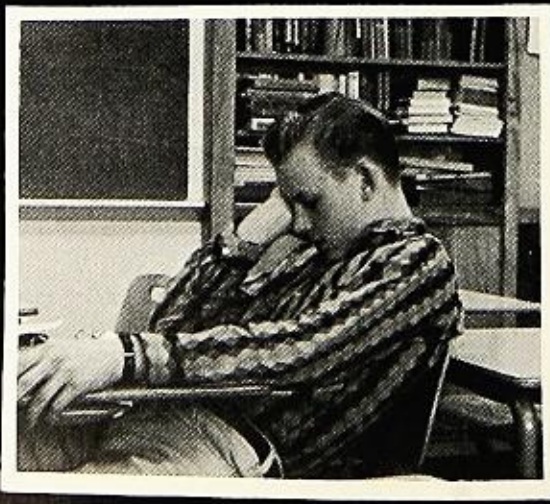

What, me worry?

My name is Squish and I think I'm late.

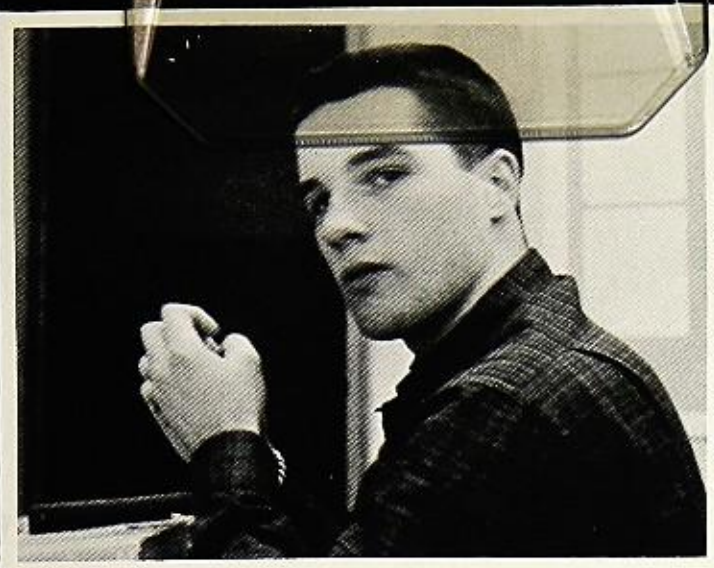

So this is the Senior Parking Lot?

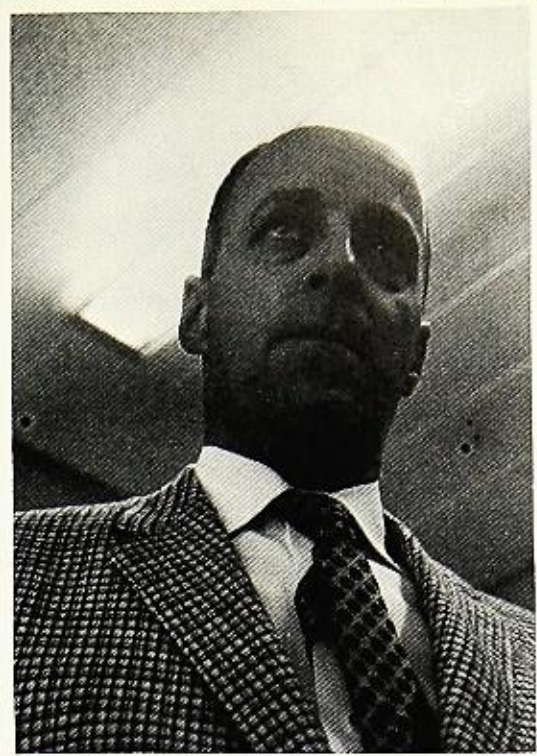

Sleeping Beauty

I go inside tomorrow's ravioli.

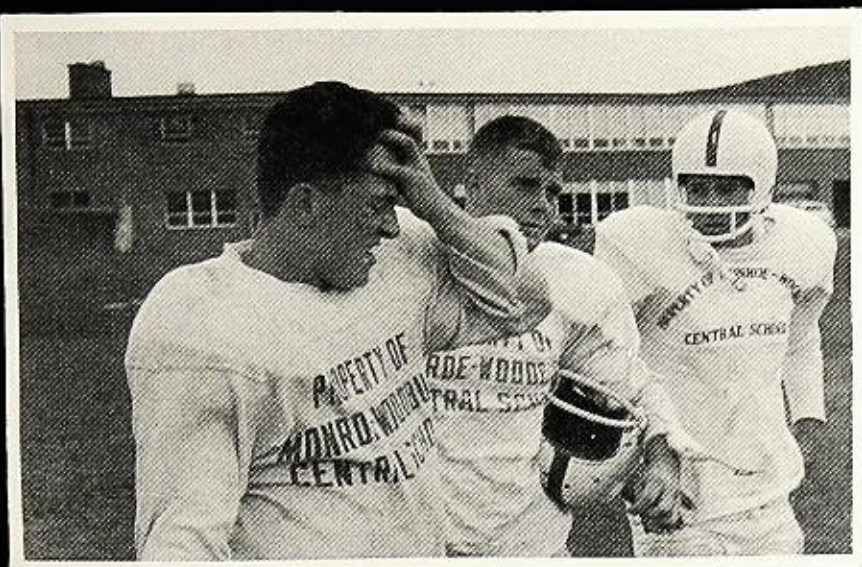

I love me; who do you love?

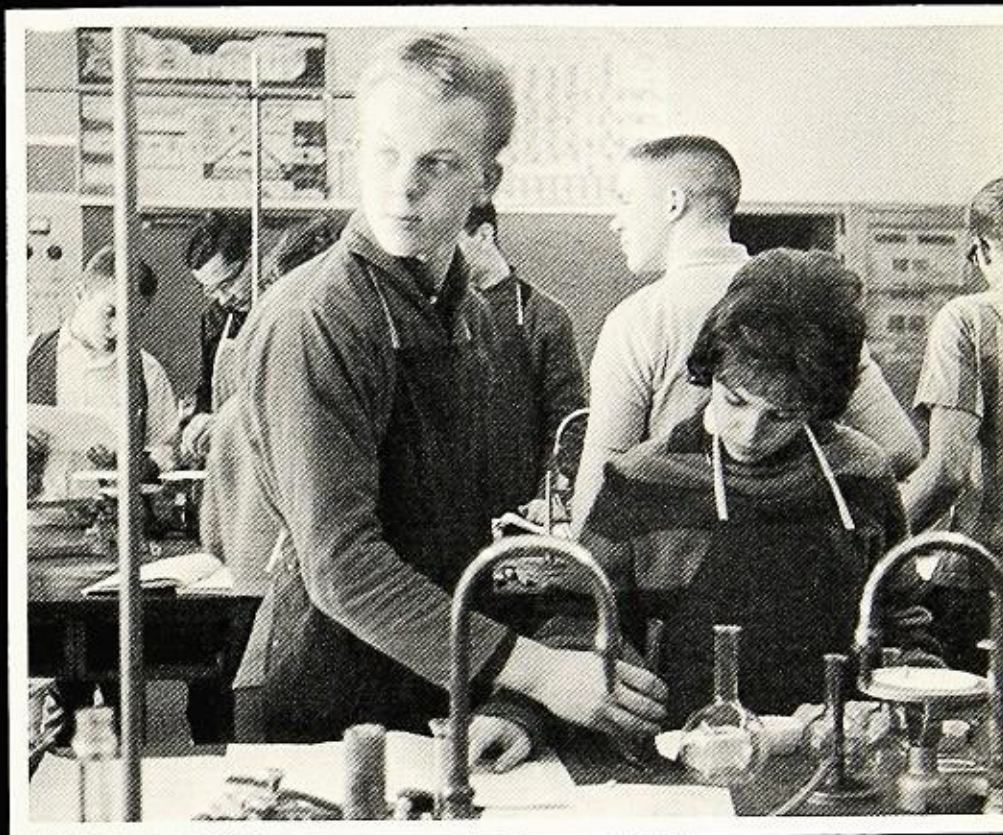

A halo? . . . Are you kidding?

Do I have to tuck my shirt in?

Who says Bufferin doesn't upset your stomach?

Quick, he's not looking now.

Eighteen hands are better than one.

Michael, will you please stand still!!

Our group had 43% fewer cavities.

Cut that out, Judy . . . everyone's looking.

Maybe I'll play today.

Don't just stand there . . . do something.

M-W's chorus line.

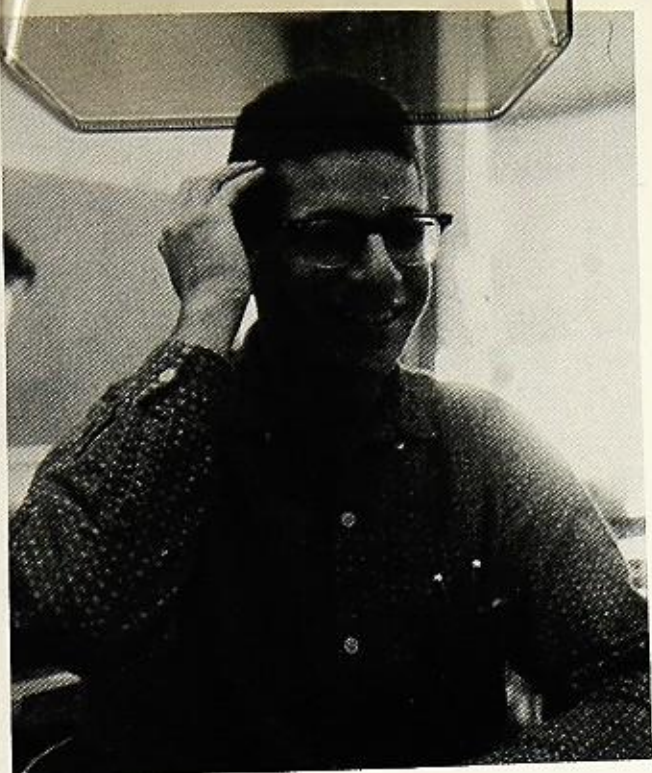

I beg your pardon, sir . . .

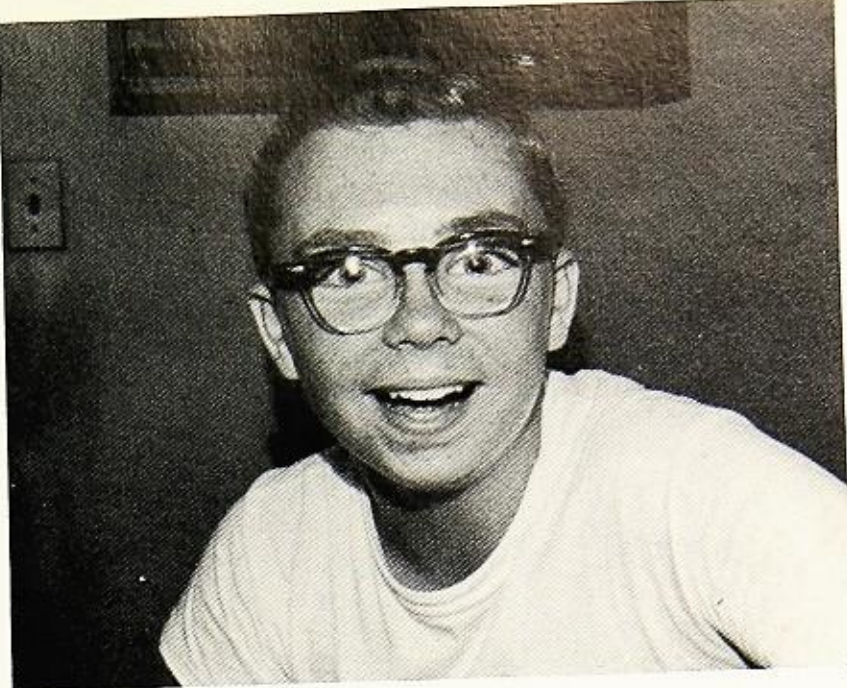

Do you have that tired run-down feeling?

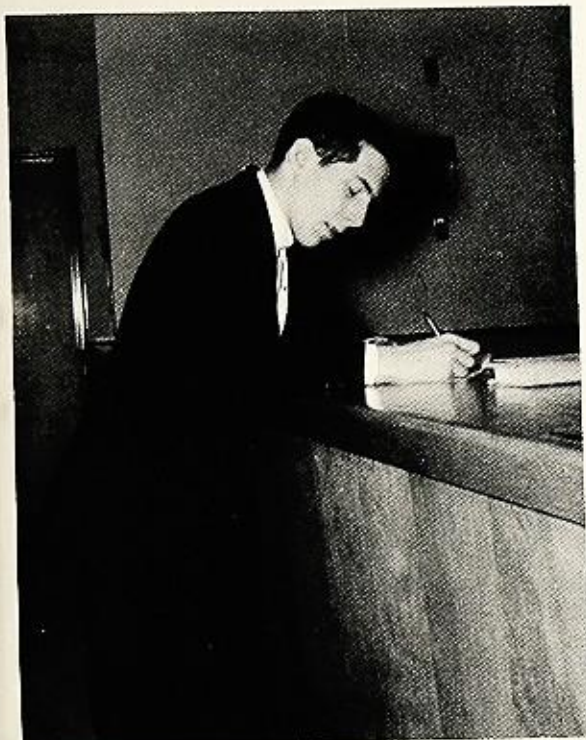

Welcome to the daytime version of the Romper Room.

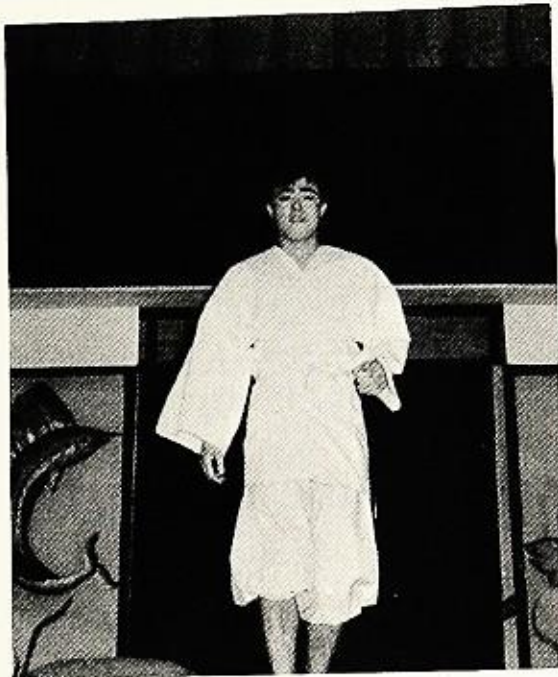

No, it's not dandruff.

You can get yours, too . . . for five Wheaties boxtops.

Who said this morning is good?

We traded him in for a Norwegian model.

Why are you holding up the wall, Ruth?

. . . and school will be closed until further notice.

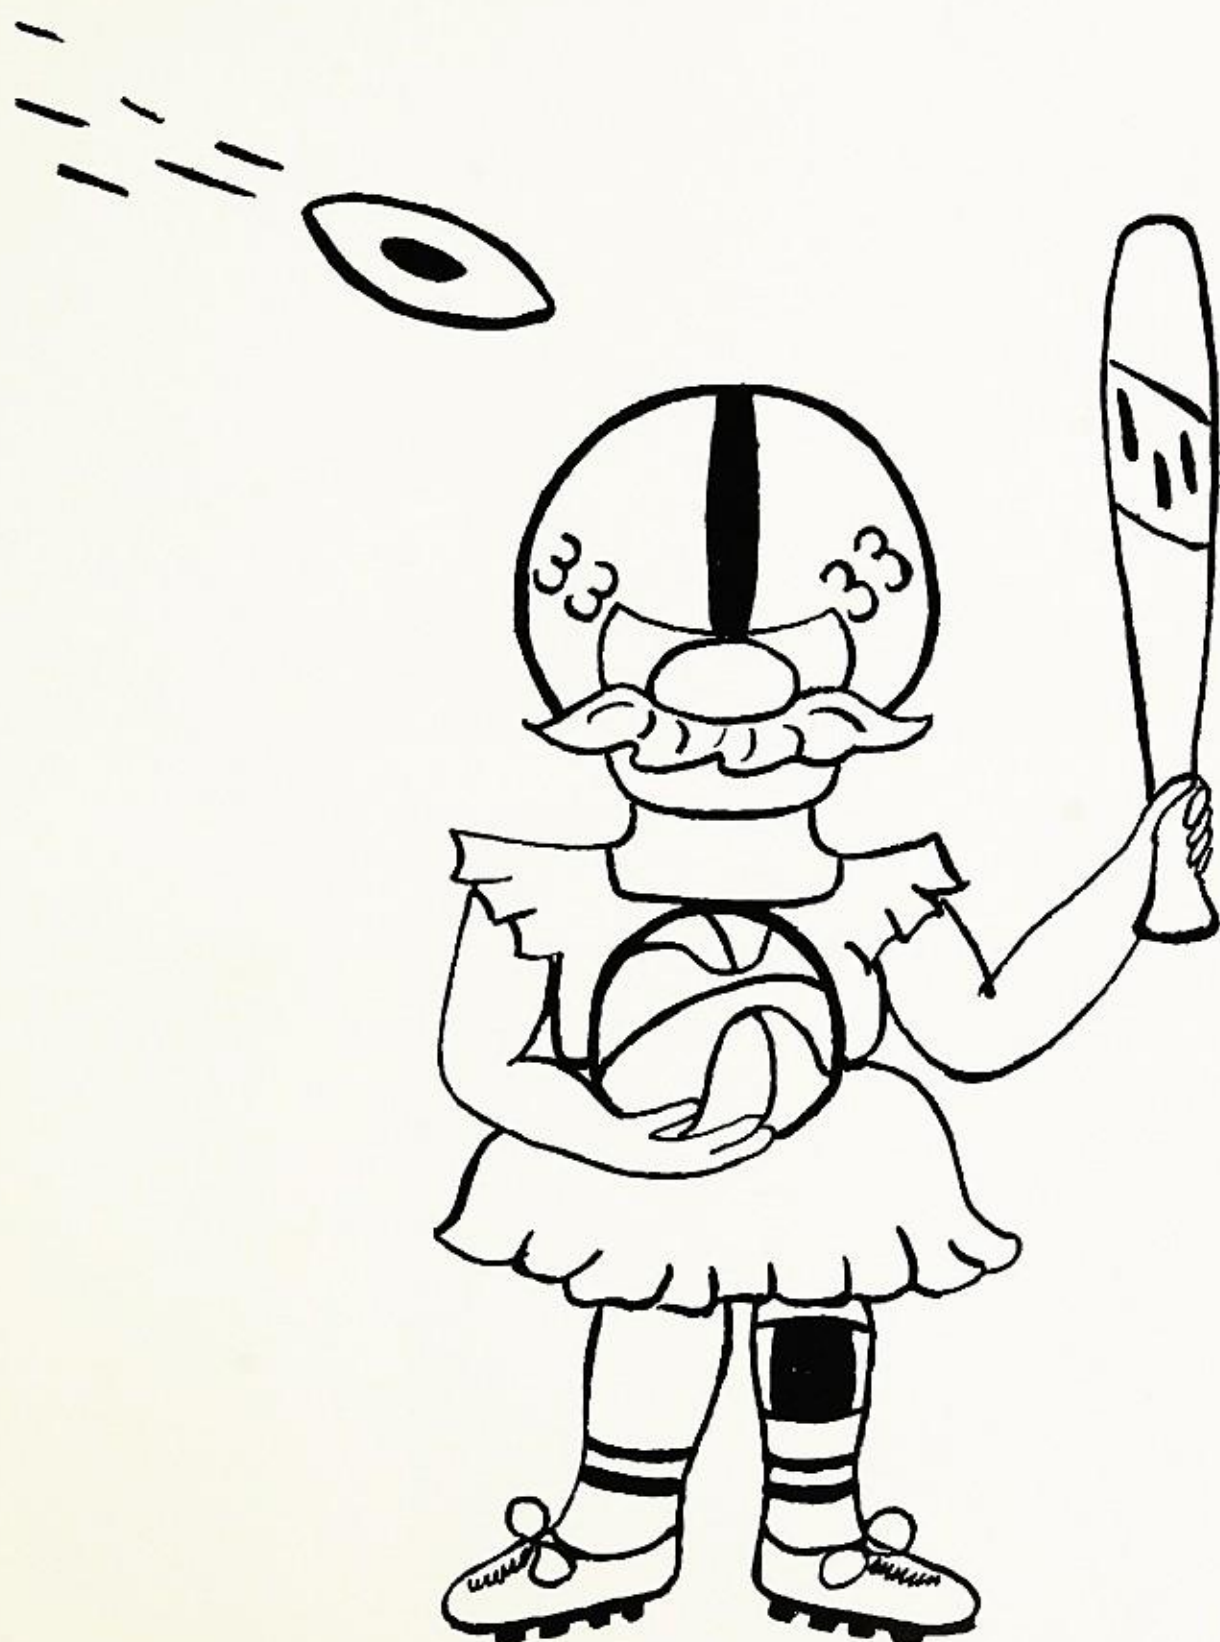

So don't complain . . . maybe you'll grow a little.

Pep, spirit, stamina and vivaciousness describe our Varsity Cheerleaders. Several of these girls have worked their way up from the junior high cheerleading squad to varsity, bringing with them high standards of teamwork and sportsmanship that will be hard to match in the future. M-W has a lot to be proud of in these nine and we extend our congratulations on a job well done.

Our team of eighteen veterans and ten new recruits was tense as it approached its first opponent, Midland Park. In a game containing many thrills despite the low scoring, the Crusaders' defense proved too much for the invaders who bowed 6-0.

The following Saturday the team took on Lakeland Central to avenge last year's defeat with a 25-12 decision.

After these two non-league victories, the Crusaders next grappled with the always dangerous Highland Falls. Monroe's defense held the Red Raiders to 0 points, while the highly effective offense harvested 25 markers.

After the two away games the team returned to defeat their guests from the County Seat. In this bruising contest, the final tally was 20-12.

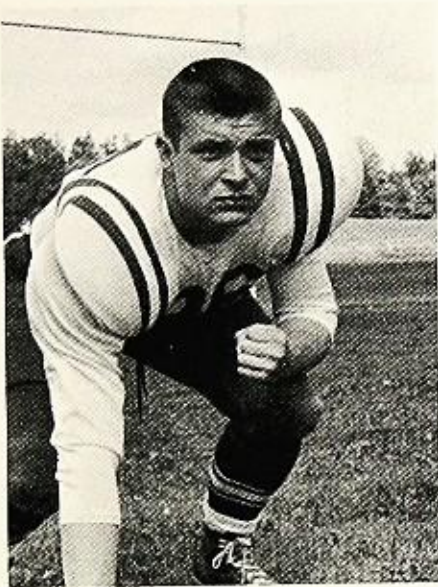

We bowed to Warwick 13-6 and to Cornwall 21-19, two games hard fought and long to be remembered.

The Crusaders closed out the season with a 6-0 victory over Valley Central on a miserable snowy day.

The junior varsity football squad was under the able direction of Mr. William Harrell and Mr. Frank Griffin.

This team consisted primarily of freshman. Although they only enjoyed the glory of one victory, they never let their defeats dampen the team spirit. They played hard and showed much improvement toward the end of the season.

The 1962-63 basketball season was a "come-backer" for the Crusaders of Monroe-Woodbury. The team finished third in the league with an 8-7 record.

This hustling squad afforded its fans with many exciting moments during the season. The highlights were a 46-42 victory over Cornwall to clinch the Crusader Christmas Tournament and a near upset of Beacon's undefeated team, a game lost by only one basket.

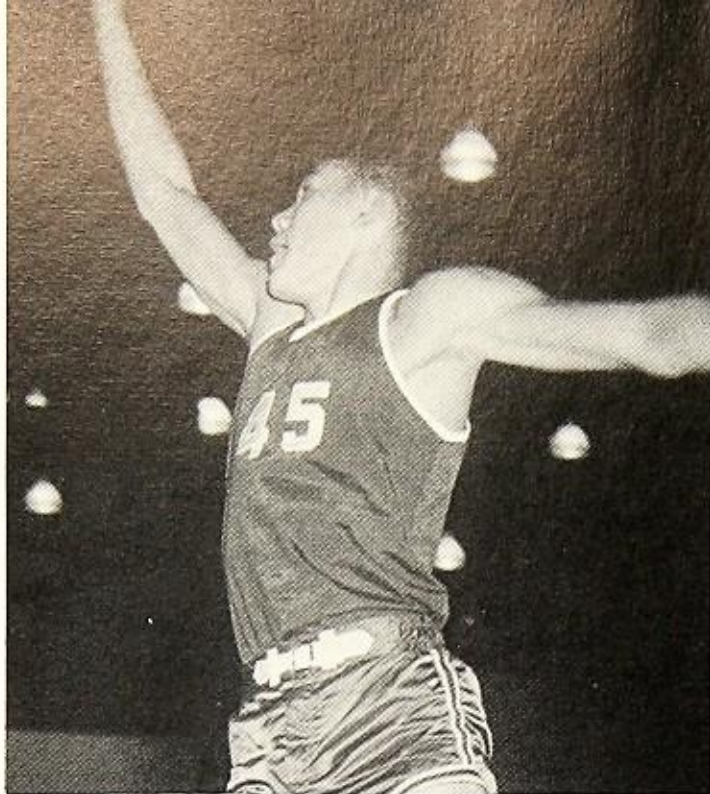

Leading the team and placing third in the county, Jimmy Johnson tallied 206 points for the year. Also to be noted is the excellent rebounding efforts of Ed Leonard.

Cross Country

Cross Country runs its races on a $2\frac{1}{2}$ mile course which is not across a country, but is not a sprint either. This year Monroe-Woodbury was fortunate to have one of the outstanding runners of the county on its team — namely, John Dockery. Not only did he set records throughout Orange County, but he also placed 16th in the New York State Meet. Other outstanding members of the team include Phil Ruminski, Paul VanVliet, Frank Belmonte, Dan Stormer and Richard Terpstra.

Have Good Year

The track team, displaying a great deal of enthusiasm during early spring training, should be more than able to meet its schedule successfully.
